

1 MELINDA HAAG (CABN 132612)
United States Attorney
2
3 J. DOUGLAS WILSON (DCBN 412811)
Chief, Criminal Division
4
5 AARON D. WEGNER (CABN 243809)
Assistant United States Attorney

6 1301 Clay Street, Suite 340S
7 Oakland, California 94612
Telephone: (510) 637-3680
FAX: (510) 637-3724
8 aaron.wegner@usdoj.gov

9 Attorneys for United States of America

10 UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
11 NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
12 OAKLAND DIVISION

13 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, ) CASE NO. 4:13-MJ-71536-MAG
14 Plaintiff, ) [PROPOSED] DETENTION ORDER
15 v. )
16 CHRISTOPHER PHAOUTHOUM, )
17 Defendant. )
18 )
19 )
20 )

21 A Criminal Complaint filed in the Northern District of California charged Defendant Christopher
22 Phaouthoum with a drug offense carrying a maximum sentence of at least ten years under the Controlled
23 Substances Act. For the reasons set forth below, the Court detains Phaouthoum as a danger to the 24 community. See 18 U.S.C. § 3142.

25 I. LEGAL STANDARDS

26 Under the bail statute, 18 U.S.C. § 3142, a Court may order the release of a defendant unless 27 conditions of release will not reasonably assure the defendant's appearance or the safety of the 28 community or another person. The Court must order a defendant detained if, after a hearing pursuant to

1 the provisions of Section 3142(f), the Court finds that conditions cannot be fashioned to assure the
2 defendant's appearance in Court or the safety of the community or another person. See 18 U.S.C. §
3 3142(e). For a drug offense with a maximum prison sentence of at least ten years, "[s]ubject to rebuttal
4 by the person, it shall be presumed that no condition or combination of conditions will reasonably assure
5 the appearance of the person . . . and the safety of the community." 18 U.S.C. § 3142(e)(3). The 6 presumption shifts a burden of production to a defendant, but the burden of persuasion remains with the 7 government. See United States v. Hir, 517 F.3d 1081, 1086 (9th Cri. 2008).

8 Under Section 3142(f), the Court holds hearings only in certain cases, including on the 9 government's motion in drug cases involving a maximum sentence of at least ten years. At the hearing,
10 the Court determines whether any conditions in Section 3142(c) will reasonably assure the defendant's
11 appearance and the safety of the community or another person. The Court may hold the detention
12 hearing immediately at the defendant's first appearance, but the government may continue the hearing
13 for three days and the defense may continue it for five days. See 18 U.S.C. § 3142(f). Further 14 continuances are allowed only for good cause. See id. A defendant has certain rights at the hearing, 15 including the right to be represented by counsel and the opportunity to testify, present witnesses, and 16 present information by proffer or otherwise. See id. Section 3142(f) addresses other procedural issues
17 including the following: (1) the rules of evidence do not apply at a detention hearing and (2) a court
18 must have clear and convincing evidence to support a finding that conditions of release will not 19 reasonably assure the safety of the community or another person.

20 In evaluating whether conditions can be fashioned to assure the safety of the community or 21 another person, a Court considers the factors in Section 3142(g), including (1) the nature and 22 circumstances of the offense, including whether the offense is one of certain enumerated crimes 23 (including a controlled substance offense), (2) the weight of the evidence, (3) the history and 24 characteristics of the person (including his job, financial resources, family ties, community ties,
25 substance abuse history, physical and mental condition, character, criminal history, past conduct, track
26 record in appearing in court, and whether at the time of arrest the person was on supervision for parole,
27 probation, or other release in a pending criminal case), and (4) the nature and seriousness of the danger
28 to any person or the community posed by the person's release.

1                   II. PROCEDURAL FACTS

2                   The defendant initially appeared before the Honorable Donna M. Ryu, U.S. Magistrate Judge, on 3 December 18, 2013, charged with the instant offense. By motion in open court on December 18, 2013,
4 the government asked for the mandatory detention hearing under Section 3142(f) for drug offenses
5 carrying a maximum penalty of at least ten years, and asked for a continuance. With the government
6 and the defense counsel's agreement, the Court (a) set a detention to take place three Court days later –
7 on December 23, 2013 before the Honorable Nandor J. Vadas, (b) referred the matter to Pretrial Services
8 for a bail study, and (c) detained the defendant pending the hearing, as required by Section 3142(f).

9                   On December 23, 2013, Pretrial Services provided a report that included criminal history,
10 employment history, health information, and surety information. The criminal history showed recent 11 convictions for violent offenses. Specifically, Defendant sustained a felony conviction for Attempted 12 Grand Theft from a Person in 2012. He also sustained a misdemeanor conviction for 13 Obstructing/Resisting a Public Officer in 2013. On two separate occasions (December 3, 2012 and 14 January 29, 2013), his felony probation has been modified, resulting in additional jail time. Phaouthoum
15 was on probation at the time he committed the instant offense. Phaouthoum was on house arrest for his 16 misdemeanor conviction of Obstructing/Resisting a Public Officer when he engaged in the offense
17 conduct alleged in the Criminal Complaint. Phaouthoum is currently unemployed, and he has minimal 18 employment history.

19                   III. FINDINGS OF FACT AND CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

20                   Following a hearing under 18 U.S.C. § 3142(f), and considering the factors set forth in Section
21 3142(g), the Court finds that no condition or combination of conditions in Section 3142(c) will 22 reasonably assure the safety of any other person or the community. In particular, the Court considered 23 the following facts and 3142(g) factors.

24                   A.        The Nature and Circumstances of the Offense

25                   The serious narcotics offense in this case involves Phaouthoum's negotiation of narcotics
26 transactions over a period of 5 months, and Phaouthoum's delivery of a total of 11 pounds of crystal
27 methamphetamine to an undercover agent. According to the Criminal Complaint, on July 30, 2013,

1 Phaouthoum told a confidential source that Phaouthoum was on house arrest, and that consequently, his
2 co-conspirator would deliver methamphetamine to the confidential source. On August 22, 2013,
3 Phaouthoum told the confidential source that he was still on house arrest and that his source of supply
4 did not trust Phaouthoum's co-conspirator to deliver 1 pound of methamphetamine. Phaouthoum told an 5 undercover agent that once Phaouthoum was released from house arrest, he would personally deliver the 6 methamphetamine to the undercover agent. On September 5, 2013, Phaouthoum told the undercover
7 agent that he could not personally deliver the methamphetamine due to his house arrest. Phaouthoum
8 agreed to sell the undercover agent 1 pound of methamphetamine in exchange for $6,700. Phaouthoum
9 said that his co-conspirator would deliver the methamphetamine the following day. The next day, the 10 co-conspirator delivered ½ pound of methamphetamine to the undercover agent in exchange for $3,400.
11 On November 14, 2013, Phaouthoum delivered 1 pound of methamphetamine to the undercover agent in 12 exchange for $8,000. On December 17, 2013, Phaouthoum delivered 10 pounds of methamphetamine to 13 the undercover agent, and was arrested at that time. Danger to the community is shown by 14 Phaouthoum's access to such a large amount of methamphetamine.

15       B.     The Weight of the Evidence

16       While the weight of the evidence is the least important factor, see e.g., United States v. Gebro,
17 948 F.2d 1118, 1121 (9th Cir. 1991), it is relevant to the Court's assessment of danger to the community
18 and risk of the defendant's non-appearance in Court. This case involves Phaouthoum's engagement in 19 the negotiation of drugs deals over a 5 month period (from July 30, 2013 through his arrest on December 20 17, 2013). Given the substantial penalties that Phaouthoum faces, the strong case tends to show flight
21 risk and reveals a danger to the community of Phaouthoum's conduct.

22       C.     The History and Characteristics of Phaouthoum

23       As discussed above, Phaouthoum, who is 26, has two recent convictions for violent offenses, and 24 his felony probation has been modified on two separate occasions, resulting in additional jail time.
25 Despite his convictions, additional jail time for probation violations, and his house arrest, he engaged in 26 drug trafficking in the present case. Additionally, as Phaouthoum is presently on probation for another 27 offense, his behavior gives the Court no assurance that he would comply with any conditions of 28 supervision that the Court might set. These facts show danger to the community.

1 Some factors weigh in Phaouthoum favor. Although the Pretrial Services report showed that
2 Phaouthoum's parents were unwilling to assist with bail, at the bail hearing, his parents indicated a
3 willingness to serve as sureties. However, given Phaouthoum's recent violent criminal history, his 4 recent probation modifications resulting in additional time, the fact that he was on house arrest and
5 felony probation at the time that he engaged in the criminal activity alleged in the Criminal Complaint,
6 and the fact that he delivered a total of 11 pounds of methamphetamine to an undercover agent while on 7 felony probation, release conditions cannot be fashioned to reasonably mitigate the defendant's risk of 8 danger to the community.

9                   D.     Conclusions of Law

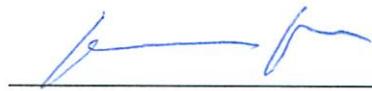

10                  The Court concludes that Phaouthoum is a danger to the community. The Court finds by clear
11 and convincing evidence that no conditions will reasonably assure the safety of the community or others.
12 See 18 U.S.C. § 3142(f).

13
14                  IV.     DETENTION ORDER

15                  Having found Phaouthoum a danger to the community, the Court orders Phaouthoum detained
16 pending trial. The defendant is committed to the custody of the Attorney General or a designated 17 representative for confinement in a corrections facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons
18 awaiting or serving sentences or held in custody pending appeal. See 18 U.S.C. § 3142(i)(2). The 19 defendant must be afforded a reasonable opportunity to consult privately with counsel. See id. §
20 3142(i)(3). On order of a court of the United States or on request of an attorney for the government, the 21 person in charge of the corrections facility must deliver the defendant to the United States Marshal for a 22 court appearance. See id. § 3142(i)(4).

23                  IT IS SO ORDERED.

24
25 DATED: 12/24/13

26                  THE HONORABLE NANDOR J. VADAS
27                  United States Magistrate Judge
28